D'fhéach	Tim Kelly looked sharply at that young man in the expensive suit who was sitting in front of him.
An bhfuil	“Do you have much experience as a travelling salesman?” he asked.
Beagán	“A little,” answered Colm.
Ach	“But I have other qualifications that make up for any lack of experience.”
Cad	“What are they?”
Fuinneamh	“Energy and enthusiasm.”
Agus	“And you want to sell my vacuum cleaners?”
Teastaíonn	“Yes. When I read your ad in the newspaper I said to myself that I was born for this work.”
Scairt	Kelly broke out laughing.
Stán	The girl who was working on the computer in the corner, who's name was Mary O'Brien, stared inquisitively at Colm.
Is cosúil	“It seems that you have a lot of confidence in yourself anyways,” said Kelly.
Ní chreidim	“I don't believe you've ever sold as much as a sweet.”
Ní léir	“It's not clear to me that sweets have anything to do with the issue,” said Colm.
Tusa	“You're the one who made this new vacuum cleaner that's called THE JUMP.
Mise	I'm the one who is able to sell that appliance for you.
Cad	What's the salary, plus commission, that you'll pay me?”
