(le Honor Mhic Giolla Chlaoin)

Siopadóireacht (ó Tuairimí)	Shopping (from Opinions)
Is duine mé a chaitheann a lán airgid ach ní maith liom siopadóireacht.	I'm a person who spends a lot of money but I don't like shopping.
Nuair a théim isteach i siopa beag, seasaim ag an gcuntar agus ní fheictear mé.	When I go into a small shop, I stand at the counter and they don't see me.
Is cuma cá fhad a sheasaim ansin déantar neamhaird díom agus tagann agus imíonn a lán daoine sula dtugann aon duine faoi deara go bhfuil mé ann.	It doesn't matter how long I stand there they ignore me and a lot of people come and go before anyone notices that I'm there.
Nuair a théim isteach in ollmhargadh ceannaím rudaí nach bhfuil uaim in aon chor.	When I go into a supermarket I buy things that I don't need at all.
Ina theannta sin bíonn go leor de na hearraí ar sheilfeanna an-arda agus bíonn orm fanacht go dtagann fáthach éigin chun an stuif a fháil dom.	In addition to that a lot of the goods are on very high shelves and I have to wait until some giant comes to get the stuff for me.
Ansin téim go dtí an scipéad agus déanaim scrúdú beag ar na scuainí – cé acu is giorra?	Then I go to the register and I make a little study of the lines – which of them is shortest?
A luaithe a bhíonn scuaine roghnaithe agam, éiríonn an freastalaí as, nó bíonn duine ann romham nár mheáigh na torthaí, nó bíonn fadhb le seic.	As soon as I have chosen a line, the cashier leaves, or there is someone in front of me who didn't weigh the fruit, or there is a problem with a check.
Is cúis iontais dom an chaoi a ndéanann daoine dearmad go gcaithfidh siad íoc as na hearraí agus nach dtosaíonn siad ag oscailt na málaí go dtí an nóiméad deireanach, an chaoi a gcaitheann siad go leor ama ag cuardach sa sparán, nó an chaoi a dtarraingíonn siad amach seicleabhar gan aon pheann acu nó gan a fhios acu cén dáta atá ann ... ansin faoi dheireadh tagaim go barr na scuaine.	It's a cause of amazement to me the way people forget that they have to pay for the goods and that they don't begin to open the bags until the last minute, the way they spend a lot of time searching in the purse, or the way they pull out a checkbook without having a pen or without knowing what the date is ... then at last I come to the front of the line.
